

Director's Message

Dear Parents,

Chaman Bhartiya School will open on August 3. With the lockdown of schools and the continuous rise of COVID-19 cases, we expect only to be allowed to open the school for online learning.

The ban on online learning has been removed. We expect new guidelines from the government regarding online learning and will, of course, follow these.

In our online learning concept, we will have a blend of online activities and other activities in between. We will ensure that we have events for the child every day, but online learning for a limited period. The learners will learn actively with and without technology. The facilitators will be in contact with the learners with individual and group (digital) talks to ensure that our holistic approach can happen even in a digital context.

Before we open the school, we will have interaction with you parents and the learners. We have created a survey for the parents to get a good picture of who you are, what you expect from the school and how you want to contribute.

We will have grade-wise digital orientation meetings and talks with all our learners (digital or analogue). The purpose of these talks is to get to know the learners so that we can personalise learning for every learner.

These meetings and talks will be scheduled between July 20 and 29. We will send mails with the details.

We will not have the kind of opening we had hoped. But in the grave COVID-19 situation in India, the children deserve that we give them the best possible learning experience. Online learning is not ideal, but it is much better than no learning. And we will do the utmost to make our online journey relevant, engaging and creative.
